Caterpillar's Wings

(Renfrew, ON, November 2014) With captivating scenes full of whimsical creatures, this magical tale, Caterpillar's Wings, by Kylee Goldman and published by General Store Publishing House, Renfrew, ON., takes young readers, ages 4 to 9, on an adventure with a caterpillar that challenges them to face and overcome their biggest of fears, learn to dream their biggest of dreams, and see the real beauty of who they can be.

Caterpillar's Wings, (ISBN 978-1-77123-082-7, 34 pp, $12.00), a writing debut by counsellor and therapist Kylee Goldman is beautifully illustrated by Julie-Ann Pelleboer.

"The characters talk about real life struggles in a way in which children can relate," says author Kylee Goldman. "Physical analogies, such as an owl's feather and a tear drop reveal to the main character and the reader alike that our fears are often not what we think, but in the thought of failure itself."

"Caterpillar's Wings gives readers hope and the encouragement to take acceptable risks, master skills and feel competent." adds Goldman.

This is a must-have delightful story for any child who experiences anxiety. The words and illustrations will inspire children to master their own challenges and will be a welcome addition to the libraries of families, child psychotherapists and teachers alike! Lorie Walton, E.C.E, B.A. B.Ed., M.Ed. Certified Child Psychotherapist and Play Therapist Supervisor, and owner of Family First Play Therapy Centre Inc., Bradford Ontario.
